The International Gaming Tour is a international video game tournament organization. We always welcome new players to participate in our annual tournaments for several games, we also welcome new games to be played. So come on by and join us: <http://www.igtour.pro.tc/>

What is the International Gaming Tour?

The International Gaming Tour (IGT for short) is a gaming competition founded in 2008 (July 29, 2008 to be exact) by xgmx. The International Gaming Tour hosts a tournament for their supported games each year and the winner of the tournament of each game gets their name inscribed in the legacy of that game, earning themselves the untold amounts of fame. In the future we may even have prizes. Just remember, it's not about winning, it's about having fun, playing fair, and don't forget that your doing it for a good cause.

Good cause, what good cause?

Well the SS Free recently suffered an attack from a hacker who goes by the name of rustyslacker. Also we are helping out Post to Cure Diabetes, which is a organization which encourages people to post on message boards to help find a cure for Diabetes (similar to walkathons but on the Internet).

Alright, so how do I sign up for some tournaments?

First you have to make a account on our website (the IGT will never ask you for your password, if someone claims to be a IGT staff member and asks you for your password report him/her/it to me or another staff member). Then you have to make a topic in the Introductions forum. Once you have made your introduction topic, you can sign up for whatever tournaments you like (as long as the tournament hasn't already started, ended, or is no longer accepting new players).

This sounds great, can my site/company/organization/forum/etc. sponsor/affiliate with your organization?

Be my guest, just make a topic in our Sponsorship forum.

I don't play any IGT supported games, what should I do?

You can suggest new games in our New Game Ideas forum.

Why did you make this advertisement look like a FAQ?

To help people.

Is this post spam?

No.

This sounds too good to be true, is this a scam, is there a hidden charge or something?
Nope, this is all true and legit. I made this because I always wanted make a online competition service, similar to that of the World Cyber Games.
