Has anyone ever thought that the Mammoth tanks in this game are not what alot of people would expect them to be.

They are too easily destroyed in my opinion, stealth tanks basically pwn mammys when in tight spots.

And since they SO big and slow they dont have the ability to dodge like medium tanks.

Since Mammys are thought to be the last standing tank in battle maybe someone could consider making EITHER of the following changes...

Slightly more faster

More armour

More firepower

More range
