See you think its absurd I believe in God, well I think your wacked to believe something came from nothing. Where did god come from?

You too believe in a thing that came from nothing (or always was there), so youre just as wacked.

if you bothered to read what was said that lead up to that comment you'd understand the post.

Christians are being called nut jobs cause we believe in God, but those who don't seem to think its totally sane to believe the universe all happened from nothing that went bang and formed life in perfect order all by accident
