i made that atlantis preset over the course of 3 weeks, w4rning made something similar before i did, although im pretty shure i HAD the idea before him but he MADE it all first w4rning and my server are both pretty close but if you look there are some big differences. or there were, i currently have NO host and am waiting to buy a new computer that will host it, those are our forums, peace out.

So.. you happened to "have the idea first," so you're the one that should be credited for everything?

Anyways, it's pretty cool that you managed to make a replica of ATLANTIS in 3 weeks. But seriously, no one likes rip-offs. If you want a practical server that people won't hate as much, try and think of something original.
I dont hate it, its a good server.
