In a tank that needs repairs. Constantly asking for repairs while in your own base, that only has one building left, no WF left, 5 engines in the last building waiting to be attacked, SBHs crawling all over the place, and no one wanting to come out and help repair your tank. Then out of frustration you get out to repair it, get in, get out repair, get in, get out repair, get in etc. till it is just at full health, and WHAT!?! an SBH steals it and puts a tank shell in your face (notice, not run over because at least I was repairing from the side).

Same scenario, this time not getting out of your tank for anything, tank down to 8 HP and still no one wants to come help!! Then just as someone finally comes out to repair you, an SBH sees you, opens fire and blows your tank in 2 shots.

At the very beginning of a game with no base defenses, everyone but you goes out to take out the harvester and rush the other teams base, leaving only you to mine and defend the base. While you are mining the last building, the enemy rushes the other door, you have not reached yet to mine, shoots you in the head with a pistol, and blows your building while you are respawning on the other side of the base.

more to come...
