Subject: Re: direct connection
Posted by reborn on Wed, 07 Jan 2009 21:37:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If you're hosting your own Free Dedicated Server, then the port will be defined in the server.ini file. The IP address can be found using an ioconfig command in your Dos command console. However, if you're running an FDS I would imagine it's on a dedicated server, and you would know the IP of it already.

If you're trying to conect to someone else's server, then you don't use your own IP adress, but that of the server.