

---

Subject: Re: UFO hits wind turbine

Posted by pawky on Sat, 10 Jan 2009 02:50:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

GoArmy44 wrote on Fri, 09 January 2009 19:16R315r4z0r wrote on Fri, 09 January 2009 16:05GoArmy44 wrote on Fri, 09 January 2009 16:19Why must it be a UFO? Wind turbines have broke before, who is to say this was any different?
The people who said they saw 'strange tentacle lights' in the sky that night. Also the person who said they saw the lights collide with the turbine.

People say lots of things, they all may not be true. Even if she saw something, who is to say that what she saw was something other than an alien craft?

I highly doubt people just make stuff up like that. Of course some do but not all. Several years ago, very prominent people (including *COUGH* an ex-President) gathered to discuss/share their UFO sighting experiences.

Many skeptics dismissed them just like that before they even began their forum! We have had police officers, civilian pilots, military fighter pilots, and military officers all telling some convincing stories.

You can still of course choose not to believe but many of those same people mentioned above tell you to keep an open mind about it.

Nukelt15 wrote on Fri, 09 January 2009 17:22I'm all for believing that there are aliens out there, but if they're advanced enough to achieve half of the things the conspiracy nuts say they can do then they're advanced enough to detect and avoid stationary objects.

If they nailed their reentry after a journey of some thousands of light-years then ran into a fucking wind turbine then I don't think I'd really want to meet them anyway.

lol

I was so inspired by this thread I reinstalled my 11 year old copy of the awesome game Incoming just totake this screenshot

---