As far as I know most rockets and missiles fired by units in Renegade such as the MRLS, Mammy, Stank, and aircraft have the ability to home in.

All of them home in apart from the ones that the infantry fire.

This may be a reason why alot of people say rocket soldiers are useless in Renegade.

So What do people think about this and what would they think the gameplay would be like if Infantry had homing in rockets (like in C&C 95)?
