Hey, I just remembered a few months ago somebody (sorry, my memory is bad) put up a link to that Nile Online game. People seemed to enjoy that, so I figured I'd let you all in on a little internet secret here.

Cybernations is a game where, essentially, you create your own nation and grow and expand through acquisition of resources and occasionally, war with other nations. It's entirely multiplayer and browser based and such. A little less visual than one would expect, unfortunately, but once you get into the game it can be pretty fun, especially once you factor alliances into the formula, etc.

So, excuse my advertising, but I thought perhaps some of you would be interested. Head on over to <http://www.cybernations.net/> and sign up, etc.

No, my profile didn't get jacked by a bot. It's okay, Goztow.
