Yes I have used google and yahoo answers but not much help you know how the tmobile G1 you click on an application that came with the phone called market? and it shows hundreds of applications made and release and its all right there categorized and all?

well my sister has a black berry from Verizon and Im trying to help her but not sure where to find blackberry applications so tell me...how? google keep coming up with applications on websites but I dont know how to get them or if there even safe or for her phone, is there an oofical place to get black berry apps or do you have to go download them off random websites that you never heard of?

can someone tell me how?
