then still, congrats, and keep up the bloody good work too   ) but dead before dawn didn't inspire me at all..

I totally agree. Dead Before Dawn might add some longevity to l4d, but it's not a new game made out of another one, and will last only a few months like the original l4d. Neotokyo looks cool but not as cool a real new concept...to me looks like the usual deathmatch game.
Although RenegadeX is more a port than a new game, it still uses the Unreal3 engine in a new way, with totally new graphics and scripts. And the original, buggy and broken game lasted years and still lives, so this project could really win #1 place if only people who voted knew Renegade.
Still, with a potentially smaller voters base, it won 3rd place, and that's amazing. And RenegadeX is amazing too!

Great job Totem Arts, and congratulations!
