maybe I will, but do I need to do anything special in order to play online? And there's probably a lot of cheaters online since the game shouldn't be too hard to hack.

You just need to make up a name that isn't taken. And servers generally have anti-cheats or ban people that cheat. And in some cases if they happen to slip by then there will be moderators on big servers.

yes mods do help you alot and yes there are some cheaters but it's no big deal i mean it's not like everyone hacks i don't it's not for me i can own people with out them and it's really funny when you own the cheater and they ask you "Why don't my cheats work, how are you owning me when i have cheats" i've had that happen alot it is funny when they give themselves away
