I need help reformatting a memory card, or removing it's write protection.

It is a micro SD car that is plugged into an SD adapted which is connected to my PC via a usb adapter.

It will have been write protected due to using it in my samsung tocco, and i'm wondering how to get rid of the write protection.

Reformatting it by right clicking on the drive in my computer and clicking format doesn't work....anyone got any ideas?

P.S. The reason this is in this section and not the support section is cos, for some reason or another, i'm not allowed to post in that section.
