

---

Subject: Re: Which console(s) do you have?
Posted by slosa on Wed, 29 Apr 2009 02:27:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

R315r4z0r wrote on Wed, 22 April 2009 14:49:2GLOCK9S wrote on Wed, 22 April 2009 15:15:15R315r4z0r wrote on Tue, 21 April 2009 17:03

However, the PS3, I think is too much money for what its worth. Sure its cost comes from the quality parts and gadgets it is made with, but it has so many different things in it that I either don't want or wont ever use that I would end up paying money for.

I have my PC, my 360 and my Wii, and I'm happy with them.

the only reason the ps3 costs more is because it has more to offer tbh. It's $100 more than the Elite, but as the lowest model, it's pretty much better in every way, except for the HDD space. The Ps3 isn't being used to it's full potential at the moment, but Blu-Ray will carry it atleast 1 generation past the 360. Next-Gen xbox will pretty much be this gen Ps3...

And I'm not fanboy.. i already said i have both. The 360 is a great system, just it doesn't have much farther to go, it's pretty much being used to it's full potential.
Lol, you repeated what I said in that quote.

I said that it uses quality components and has a lot of gadgets.

But I also went on to say, I don't want those gadgets, but I would be forced to pay for them anyway.

For example, I have no need for a blueray disk player at this time.
let's see if you'll be saying that when game developers move to the ps3 because of it's huge storage capacity and xbox fails! i just know that's what's gunna happen, and I don't have a lot of money to buy another xbox..