Just like society is based on the same Concept you moron.
That's what you call evolution, learn the concept.

What's the difference between Dell and Gateway? Nothing but a brand name. Every PC has different Specs, but they are still the same thing that offers a Windows based platform.
Wait a minute THEY ARE STEALING IDEAS! (Think about that.)

And I said to try an make my site (BETTER) than theirs, not the same exact stuff. Do your research more.
And last time I checked there are forums on Planetcnc.com; if that's the case, what's the point of these forums if a more superior site has forums already?

I know why, because it's a good idea, stolen according to you. But yet, it's a good idea. Nothing unique about it, just a good community and good members.

 I'm thinking of adding Such things as (Emulation.) And going to have Music, Video Tutorials you can watch right on the website, games you can play on the website and get ranks, going to implement Live Server List on the site, gonna try to cover 250+ games for downloads and more, not just a meer 10 or what ever Game-Maps.net covers. Might make a part for cheat codes, don't know yet. If I do that will be at a later time.
Going to host any File people want up that has to do with gaming.
(pics, mods, music, files, TC mods, videos, documents, and much more.)

And as you can tell, I'm simply taking an idea and evolving it into a bigger type community, that covers a more sufficient crowd.

Well you should have said it in a less insulting way then, you said it in such a way that was kinda rude, with the 'S' thing.
