

---

Subject: Re: almost 1 year

Posted by Goztow on Thu, 07 May 2009 11:58:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

There's a lot of variety already on standard maps. I can understand why people want fanmaps. I'm personally afraid server owners may just pick any fanmap and disgust players because of the bugs, unbalance, ... It'll be up to the server owners to take the task of testing fanmaps seriously.

I do agree: cheaters have made a lot of regular players leave. Current cheats are very hard to catch, hence it's impossible to say if someone killed you because of skill or cheats. I'm not just thinking of *cheat name removed*but also of advantage skins and the likes. People using them even claim that it's normal to use them. That's very frustrating for players who want an even play level.

I still believe in the TT patch but I believe it's getting time to see progress. Renegade won't be along forever.

---