Not completely relevant but my theory is that the only reason they want to play these boring maps over an over and not playing new maps is because they want to stay as pros in their own little world.

They are afraid that when they start playing new maps they will be newbies.

yes, this is true for a lot of players, i guess.

they know the standard maps like their own flat, standard procedures FTW all the way.

Personally, I miss the CP2 maps.
