

---

Subject: Re: Price Range For A Gaming Computer
Posted by Chuck Norris on Fri, 08 May 2009 18:47:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

2GB is starting to be too low for a new PC. If you're striving to put together a really cheap system like the one in that article, every dollar counts, but otherwise, the price difference between 2GB and 4GB is so little it's a moot point, and you should grab as much as you can if you're still on DDR2 before prices start going back up (they've slowly started to).

---