half3lif3if EA really cares about makin so much money, why don't they make renegade2 ffs, didn't renegade itself sell alot, so by makin renegade2 they will even make more money than ever, do you know how many renegade fans were waitin for renegade2 to come out, heh, if EA is really thinkin about money, he should rethink of revivin Renegade2, if not so, then they wont be thinkin about renegade2.

Honestly guys, you tell me, didn't renegade sell alot, huh?
c'mon I want to see you guys tell me if it didn't!!!!

Renegade did sell a lot but they didn't make nowhere near as much as they expected, I have no knowledge of there exact finances but I believe they could well have been at a loss so after that I don't think they will attempt a Renegade 2 just incase this time they do run into a loss.

If you think how long Renegade was in development you will get a good idea of how much it would be mounting up to and after it was done they still had to pay to make things like the gmax plugin.

Theres a lot more to think about when your the leader of a multi-million pound company, one wrong move could be the end of you.

I wish people would put more thought into things b4 they start slagging off at EA, ok I think they would make a profit on Renegade 2 but it will take more than a few thousand people to convince them they are going to be doing the right thing by making this game.
