I'm saying basically what I'm seeing. Hell I've left the game a few times but have always come back. I've seen many people just recently that I played with years ago that are coming back.

Of course there will be a decline in players over the last few years; the game isn't in the same generation as most games out right now. I do think, though, that Renegade is one of the best games out, gameplay-wise. Why I'm still around playing it.

This has nothing to do with the point im trying to make...
