Nintendo.

Started with some facts

(SALES RAPED THE COMPETITION)

(WII BALANCE BOARD OWNED MICROSOFT AND SONY ALONE SALE WISE)

Wii system is for everyone, unlike those other systems (look above)

Nintendo becoming more of a family fun system than mainly little kids games, as in the past.

Yes, Natal looks good, but, it's weak, suffice to say.

How does it know if someone else takes control and plays instead of you hi-jacking the game?

The Wii doesn't have any problems.

The other systems concentrate on graphics as apposed to game play.

Oh, and btw, Golden Sun 3 ftw? It's about time.

The motion device on Sony is a bit.... odd.

Wii is THE original, and as I'm sure most the people here know; THE ORIGINAL IS ALMOST ALWAYS BETTER. And if you look at the sales for all the systems, the DS pwns everyone.
