

---

Subject: Re: Question for Christians

Posted by Altzan on Fri, 12 Jun 2009 12:56:55 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Spoony wrote on Fri, 12 June 2009 01:29firstly, "equally hostile"? when have I ever threatened somebody with punishment simply for not being an atheist like me?

I never threatened anyone either. And before you say "HELL", I didn't come up with the idea. And who said I was trying to change anyone's mind?

Spoony wrote on Fri, 12 June 2009 01:29secondly, if you "just don't agree" that there's anything morally wrong with the above (see my comparison to stalin), then religion is plainly not capable of actually teaching you right from wrong.

Uh...duh. I wasn't TAUGHT that Christianity is right, that's MY decision on what to believe. Just as it's yours not to.

Spoony wrote on Fri, 12 June 2009 01:29thirdly, you haven't made any remotely palpable arguments in favour of christianity for us to reject in the first place. the closest you've come is tell us we're "hopeless failures" for wanting something to back up its claims we think are ludicrous, or to justify its teachings we think are - let's not mince words - evil.

I never saw much 'palpable argument' in anything you posted either, just pointless comparisons and unsubtle opinions.

Spoony wrote on Fri, 12 June 2009 01:29what things were these, and more importantly, how do you define "repented"?

Right, I'll tell you mine if you tell me yours.

---