Most things we use/do on the internet serve no real purpose but we do it any ways. This is just another thing. I really don't see why people RAGE so hard at twitter. All it is really is a text message with an extra step. I will be the first to tell you that it is pretty useless but it still can be fun. It takes all of like 2 minutes to set up. Mine is pretty much strictly n00bstories - I don't have any irl people following me or being watched. Btw, I also don't let tweets go to my phone which makes it much more tolerable.
