
Subject: Re: I have a favour to ask the Renegade players
Posted by a000clown on Sat, 20 Jun 2009 04:37:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Looks like they've reached 1000+ members

The current player-to-server ratio is kinda sad, meaning a lot of empty servers. A handful of servers are always active though and like previously mentioned, it's been 8 years so all things considered, I think we're doing alright.

Right now the game is plagued with cheaters and the same repetitive maps over and over again, but the efforts of the community have been working hard to solve this problem; Previously with RenGuard, currently with BIATCH or Renegade Resurrection, and in the future the Tiberian Technologies Patch.

With that said, it's the modding community that's keeping this game alive. There's many talented modders, for lack of a better word, that release new and intriguing things to the community that keep the experience fresh and entertaining for the rest of us.

That's just my take on the current situation.
I've never been good with estimates, but I think Renegade can make it a few more years
