When we had bunkersTS and snow in our rotation, the server always lost at least half of the players, even though there were auto announcements and join messages about the 2 fanmaps. We eventually took them out.

The auto downloader from TT will be made of pure win.

I once did download all map packs but then my PC crashed and i didnt want to do it all again.

Besides that the most populated servers where always the ones with default maps so i was playing on those almost always even when i had the packs

And i just have to quote you a second time for this Goztow :
