Well im completely new here and play renegade only for two weeks for now and i'm not sure whether my opinion is interesting to anyone here but here s my story... previously an online cs player, i decided to play it after the tiberium wars and i must say that i've become totally addicted to this game right now. It really owns despite its age and im sure that it will keep it up. As for me i will surely continue playin it. In my view its one of the best old-school games that have no match even now. I just feel sorry that ive learned about it only now.
