

---

Subject: Re: 1 year to the day

Posted by HTT-Bird on Fri, 26 Jun 2009 00:21:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Saberhawk wrote on Wed, 24 June 2009 22:34BlueThen wrote on Wed, 24 June 2009 20:47<http://www.statsvn.org/>

You should consider it. Gives live updates to the public automatically. Could probably satisfy everyone's thirst for updates.

Part in red is why we can't do it. Our repository contains classified code (like the anti-cheat for example) which our commit logs do refer to. Automatic updates based on this information could certainly help in breaking the anti-cheat and that is bad.

Security by obscurity isn't security at all. You have to make the assumption that the bad guys already know what you're trying to implement/have implemented.

---