I have 2 cheap, crappy sets (for like when friends come over and what ever) and I have this problem all the time. It is so very annoying. But I also have a couple quality sets and it never happens. I've also noticed that some phones seem to do it more than others too.

they was 25

Mine where $320..

Also, I don't understand the problem you're having. Granted I only got my first cell phone no longer than a month ago.

Are you saying that when someone calls or texts you while your phone is near your speakers, you hear crackling noises?

That's so cool.. I got to try that!
