The Shaders work on this way:

When i enter a darked zone then it will change some Light and shadow settings a bit darker.

When i look to sun or when im entering a bright zone then my bloom will be more heavyer and the color correction also starts then to get a little darker