TaximesTheDragonTaximesRoger that, Houston, we are good to go oooo! where did you get that mod?

It's not really a mod

I was making a map and just screwing around, so I threw the Lear jets in. Since it wasn't an aircraft map, it didn't have a height barrier, and I just kept flying up and up and realized that the combination of snow and the night sky looks like stars, which brought upon the skins (I made them).

I was talking about this in another thread, too. Afterwards, I started making a space-based map, but I lost all progress on it in a format.

Note: It's hard to read, but the name of the spacecraft is Quantifigon. You're a real oldbie if you understand that Renegade tribute wow... i'm finally an oldbie then...
