JavaxcxMy advice?

Come up here to Canada. Our Military Owns j00. =)

LOL

That is so funny!

Canada has one of the smallest, and weakest military/army/airforce/etc.

They can only afford those dinky little aircraft carriers that can only launch helo's and harriers. lol... (I only seen maybe 1 full size carrier, wouldn't give them that much credit)

Vy7a1"Canada's military doesnt own anyone."

i agree, (im from Canada too) but for cryin out loud, just last week one of our seakings crashed on a....well it was ONE of our boats, and i mean those seakings are freakin old, i think i heard somewhere we bought em after WW2, i mean COME ON!!! the U.S. armed forces alone could likely take out our entire millitary force....sad

Those seakings are american helos (they're not that old, they're like 1970s aircraft...)

John Shaft Jr.snipefragl am from the UK Both my grandads were in the war and they both always told me about stupid things the americans did like accidentally killing each other, and also he said that they claimed all the glory for everything the english did for example. Can you remember the "enigma" the germans secret coding device which was portraited in the film U571 the english were the actual people that captured it from the U boat not the americans.

I have nothing against the americans so dont come back flaming me if you disagree it will just prove my grandads theory that the "americans think there allways right".

1 more thing all the ships that america sold to the UK WHICH we fitted with our own interior were sold back to the americans cause our country were in so much debt (if you didnt know the UK only just paid off all the money they owed from the war about a 2 years ago) and when they got back my grandad watched as everything we had built and crafted into the ships were ripped out by the americans and thrown out into big garbage trucks and taken off to a dump and this wasnt just a few seats and a desk or 2 it was extremely expensive equipment which the UK could have used.....

*Shurgs shoulders* Soooooooo.... whats your point.

The interiors were crap... If you want something done right, than trash the euro crap and install it yourself...
