It's not all that different from blocking a link to a site that has links to illegal downloads of Renegade and other games.

That'd be like saying you can't link to google as people could use it to search for porn, illegal downloads....well, loads of things this forum has banned from being linked.

edit: Fuck! i should really have read the post above mine before posting.
I can't believe I forgot google out of that list, but lets add that aswell.
