(That was sarcasm, just for the record.)

No, I would actually prohibit things like that to be posted and remove it, but it would be kind of odd to remove posts that contains a link to the explanation behind the split that caused the community to be created... correct?

Also, I still see that I can link to google, maybe you'll want to remove that aswell? As it is indexing our forum right now, it might also index the private information!

Also, way to compare "private information" to pictures of "dead mangled corpses", you're exaggerating SLIGHTLY.
