It's a start, now how about having real dialogue between both communities (and just just focusing on getting individuals to switch)? Plus isn't a02 under your control?

That hostname was on loan, with the knowledge it could be called back anytime. The hostname Crimson uses on here main server is different.

Anyway, as far as i could see that hostname wasn't used in ages, I was going to set it up as a clanwar server.

There's a bust-up in the ranks at NS, I get asked if exodus can use the name, I said yeah no problem as it wasn't being used, and if it was it seemed to be a reaction to the split to use the name out of spite.

So to make it clear, yes I said they can use the name. Your politics between the communities are your business, i couldn't give a flying fuck what happened or what will happen.

As for me, this is the first time i logged in in ages, and it will be the last. I didn't come here to debate or argue, as i really don't care that much. I came to remove any doubt.

Peace.
