vps for renegade servers?

Uhm, you do know that a renegade server almost requires the whole mother machine. If you start selling multiple VPS you will get trouble processing all the VPS. Sounds like a stupid plan to me.

In order to sell VPS servers you would atleast need a beast of a colocation. For example a quad core system with 16GB of ram.

I dont think you have that. So the only thing you are about to do is oversell and make your company look bad.
