Quote:Renegade 2 Was 80% Complete? Comment!

General tech news site Tech Critic reported recently that Renegade 2 may have been 80% complete when Electronic Arts shut down Westwood Studios and cancelled the project.

Well after talking to the person that did the original game voice for EVA, we found out that Renegade two (which was going to be based on Red Alert) was close to completion, but EA decided Westwood had enough games!

The news post links to Chuck Carter's website and links to a video (QuickTime format) showing havoc running around the prototype level, some level screenshots and some model development images. Some of the images shown have circulated around the community before, but the movie is new.
