Got any proof of that? Only Queen himself now would know if he cheats nowadays or not, because he probably won't make the same mistake twice.

Exactly, so I could be cheating nowadays. So could you. Unless there's some DEFINATE proof he cheats online, can we please stop this debate? It's rather annoying. Let's just comment on his skins, please.

There is DEFINATE proof of Queen cheating in the past with RGH. *cheat name removed*can be turned off, and basically any1 that has *cheat name removed*on while taking screenshots for skins has *cheat name removed*on as a habit; not noticing the yellow words in the corner. Now he won't make the same mistake twice.

The thing that makes him a worthy suspect in my eyes, is that he still denies everything. He went away from the Forums, and got back. He basically blames us for everything, and he still denies it was him cheating.

Now you are right about the possibilities of everyone cheating, but I wouldn't trust on that until cheat history screenshots are shown, or recent busts by BIATCH/mods with good proof, or recent "mistakes" like Queen did with his screenshot. But yeah, he could still be cheating, or not. No1 knows except himself, and I'll agree with your point.

Heck, I even got banned numerous times from the Gz0ne server, and once from Jelly for RGH. I had my proof though that I didn't cheated at those times. Often "Fraps proof"; luckily getting banned in a match while running Fraps and recording everything from your eyes.

The only unban that was based on "trust" was me getting banned by BIATCH for having a different warhead and damage with an APC (Volt damage and warhead for the M60 of the Nod APC). This ban happened when BIATCH was just released. This could have been a lag flaw or some other issue, but I was glad that Adad trusted me as I had no proof whatsoever of me not cheating, besides my words of what happened. I used the Volt rifle just before I got in the APC as the driver and started shooting a bit.
