HomeyWhy should anyone care about your birthday? happens once a year just like everyone else, unless they know you in real life its stupid.

Maybe because I do more than whine and complain?

I don't know, maybe because I helped build this community without any kind of monetary compensation from the corporation that is Electronic Arts?

Maybe they want to give something back to me because of what I've done?

You decide... After all, you're the expert on caring for others, aren't you?
