Subject: Building a computer
Posted by Walrus on Sun, 17 Aug 2003 20:48:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The OS can be got cheap if you buy most of the parts on line, they will usually sell you the OS half price. I live in the UK so all the prices are fucked up. I usually buy from http://www.planetmicro.co.uk not the cheapest but I have never had a problem with them.

Some online companies will build them for you at a small extra cost, as little as 20 and as big as 50. It depends. Shop around, check PC mags for adverts and pick and choose.