They don't play the best stuff at clubs, they just play commercial tracks and that's fine with me. It's danceable and fun but still I like to listen to some tracks I REALLY like at home.

Oh well, not my cup of tea, but I believe it's still easier to find out which artists you actually like and start from there instead of trying to figure out the categories - there are just too many and they're confusing to 99% of the population .
