It is not corrupted game cabinet files. I've manually extracted the files and installed the program, though haven't registered it with the system yet. Aside from the networking side, it runs great. I'll address networking shortly.

Somethings up in setup. Think I'll have to mess around with this a bit more, maybe build my own installer lol.

Stumbled against another problem, though: I am playing the game without a serial due to bypassing installation. That will be a headache fixing.

Anyone know of an installer already built?
