If you don't know, then you don't care.

Also Muad - light and zippy? It's ridiculously heavy (though not Camaro-heavy) and as JohnDoe said, the hp to liter ratio is awful. As of right now, the only decent engine is in the GT500... which has to move a lot more weight to begin with. However, the next Mustang V8 is supposed to be far more powerful (to compete with the Camaro I presume).
