doing 4v4s and 5v5s is something clanwars people do all the time, so of course they're in favor of doing small games i say if you know a person can't make it that week then you shouldn't sign them up, in the instance of a player visiting his child maybe he knew ahead of time when it would be getting the swine flu is quite a valid excuse though, but if i had the swine flu i doubt i'd sign up to play renegade unless he or she got it after they signed up, in which case there's next to nothing you can do about it

10vs10 tournament...if there are only 10 total players in the games played something is going wrong
