Then there's of course the MRLS (and stank, to a degree) though those are vehicles, so I guess they don't count.

But yeah, basically in the right circumstances, you can kill someone without the enemy ever getting a glimpse of you when you use indirect attack. Of course, highly unlikely in Renegade.

Anyway, the only + sides I see with flamethrower are these:
-blocking enemy view with flames (5-6 flame throwers can block it pretty well, tbh)
-having increased armor against splash damage (can run into proxies without getting killed as easily, tanks have a bit harder time killing them)

I'd still pick the grenadier any day. Grenades pwn buildings that much faster & from distance.
