Usually if I tech vehicles, then I am repairing the whole game. While I do get credits for it, coupled with the credits per second and the harv dumps, there is always plenty enough to buy another vehicle or switch chars should I choose to go on the offensive.

As far as points...lol...if you decide to tech then it's a given that you won't be say, getting an MVP.

edit: so recs by the way are a good addition to the game imho. To me a !rec is a local motivator in-game while the ladder is a distant motivator.
