You're missing the point. I'm simply reinforcing the fact that gameplay > graphics.

No, that depends on the person, especially if there is another game that mimics the the first game's game-play and has better graphics. And as many people have pointed out, who plays Crysis for its game-play?

Jerad Gray wrote on Thu, 22 October 2009 09:24 Do you think anyone would play Crysis if it had Pokemon red graphics?

You're asking the wrong question. The question you're looking for is "Would people actually play Crysis if it had Pokemon Red's level of game play?", and the answer is yes.

Let me promise you that I'm asking the correct question, once more: As many people have pointed out, who plays Crysis for its game-play?
