yeah it says I need a disc to do that. But now I am having a problem, I cant see any servers, I tried making a new nick and password I looked for the files others said I should delete and I don't have those files and I looked through over 30 pages on this forum and can't find the fix for this. it connects to the server list like normal, but i just cant see any servers... no error codes or anything saying somethings wrong. I even hit the refresh button and it says at the bottom requesting list then disappears like it normally would when it finds the list but nothing shows up. Idk maybe i can wait till Christmas and maybe I'll get lucky and get a new disc. I did add some skins, but I have installed these skins before and had no problem and they work in the multiplayer practice. Also I opened woldata in note pad trying to find my serial number and was thinking that might have done it?
