

---

Subject: Re: The Pointsfix and the Game Listings
Posted by Spoony on Mon, 26 Oct 2009 18:07:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Herr wrote on Mon, 26 October 2009 11:54 Why would someone hand this power over from a person who, as you stated, has never abused it before to a team that contains a few people who have proven their self not to be trustworthy at all, in the past.
like i said, if TT handled it we'd handle it responsibly and with transparency.

Herr wrote on Mon, 26 October 2009 11:54 or someone who has always been supported by the Jellycomm but decided to suddenly change his mind and backstab the community for it contains a few people who disagree with his opinion.
i don't think you could possibly have gotten the situation any more wrong than this sentence.

Herr wrote on Mon, 26 October 2009 11:54 Considering the EA support argument, we both know EA couldn't care less about Westwood's old stuff. Of course they will welcome the first group with open arms who offer support to a game that is bleeding to death. I do not really consider that trustworthy.
excuse me, but no. they don't give away authority like control over a game's patcher lightly. it is true they don't care about renegade as much as they should, but that doesn't follow from this.

---