Luckely, I took a SS as the link is now inaccessible.

Looking for some followup, I read there

Quote:They (note: they = renforums.com) indeed somehow seem to really hate this site.

I personally liked it very much, because here all skins where ordered instead of just thrown into 1 sub-forum.

I don't see how you got to this? First of all I did you a huge favour by posting about your site, that was unknown to most people here until I posted about this issue. Secondly, which reactions did you expect when an admin posts encouragement to DDOS renforums? Lastly, noone actually said anything about your website itself, they just commented on some of their users who happen to be an admin on your website and use your website to encourage DDOS'ing of our forum. I don't think most of our forum users actually care about the content you have on your site.

The reactions of the website founder have all been very unprofessional so far. But I didn't expect any less.
