What we do

We at "Gamer Heaven" are gamers, gamers dedicated to the community. We are here are gamers of any type of game rather it be Computer games, or just handheld games, we have it all. Gamer Heaven is also a growing community that depends strictly on you, and who you bring here. We are not just another community that is one thing or another, it is what you make it. If you want to add something you are welcome to go right ahead. If there is a new game or topic you would like to create do not feel that you can't because you can.

Our Goal

Our goal is nothing more than to get more and more gamers together, if you feel that you might know a couple friends that might be interested - invite them.

Here for you!

We are here for you! If you feel uncomfortable contact us and we will help solve the problem, or reduce it as best as we can. Without the people coming here the community would not exist, so as you can see you are very important.
